

QUESTIONNAIRE ON LIMITATIONS OF INTERNATIONAL REGISTRATIONS UNDER THE MADRID SYSTEM

The following questionnaire concerns the examination practice of the Offices of the Contracting Parties of the Madrid System regarding limitations made in international applications, subsequent designations and those recorded as changes to international registrations.

The questionnaire has two parts:

- Part I is for Offices of the Contracting Parties of the Madrid System only,
- Part II is for observer organizations only.

Offices and observer organizations are invited to reply to this questionnaire and to provide further information or comments for each of its questions.

Replies to this questionnaire should reach the Secretariat by March 15, 2018.

The Secretariat will present to the Working Group on the Legal Development of the Madrid System for the International Registration of Marks, at its Sixteenth Session, a document summarizing the answers to the questionnaire as well as the information or comments received.

Name of the Contracting Party:	UK Intellectual Property Office

I. FOR OFFICES ONLY

A. ROLE OF THE OFFICE OF ORIGIN

Limitations Made in International Applications

Question 1: As Office of origin, does the Office examine limitations made in international applications (Form MM2)? (It is possible to tick more than one box; however, in such case, kindly explain in the comments section below.)

- ☐ Yes, to determine only whether such limitations are covered by the list of goods and services in the basic application or basic registration (hereinafter referred to as “the basic list”).
- ☐ Yes, to determine only whether such limitations are covered by the list of goods and services in the international application (hereinafter referred to as “the main list of the international application”).
- ☒ Yes, to determine whether such limitations are covered by both the basic list and the main list of the international application.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the applicant is responsible for ensuring that such limitations are covered by the basic list or main list of the international application, or both.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the International Bureau should determine whether such limitations are covered by the list of goods and services in the resulting international registration (hereinafter referred to as “the main list of the international registration”).
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the Office of the designated Contracting Party or Parties (where the limitations will have effect) must determine whether such limitations are covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that it does not have the legal basis to do so.
- ☐ N/A, as Office of origin, the Office has not yet received an international application.
- ☐ Other(s) – please, specify:

B. ROLE OF THE OFFICE OF THE CONTRACTING PARTY OF THE HOLDER*Limitations Made in Subsequent Designations or Requested as Recording of a Change to the International Registration*

Holders can make subsequent designations and present requests for recording directly to the International Bureau or through their Office (the Office of the Contracting Party of the holder) which can be the Office of origin or another Office after the recording of a change in ownership.

Question 2: As the Office of the Contracting Party of the holder, when the Office receives subsequent designations containing limitations (Form MM4), does the Office examine such limitations? (It is possible tick more than one box; however, in such case, kindly explain in the comments section below.)

- ☐ Yes, to determine whether such limitations are covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ Yes, to determine whether such limitations are covered by the main list of the international registration, but only when the Office is also the Office of origin.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the holder is responsible for making sure that such limitations are covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the International Bureau should determine whether such limitations are covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the Office of the designated Contracting Party or Parties (where the limitations will have effect) should determine whether such limitations are covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that it does not have the legal basis to do so.
- ☒ N/A, as the Office of the Contracting Party of the holder, the Office has not received subsequent designations.
- ☐ Other(s) – please, specify:

Question 3: As the Office of the Contracting Party of the holder, when the Office receives a request for the recording of a limitation as a change to the international registration (Form MM6), does the Office examine such limitation? (It is possible to tick more than one box; however, in such case, kindly explain in the comments section below.)

- ☐ Yes, to determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ Yes, to determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration, but only when the Office is also the Office of origin.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the holder is responsible for making sure that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the International Bureau should determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that the Office of the designated Contracting Party or Parties (where the limitation will have effect) should determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, because the Office considers that it does not have the legal basis to do so.
- ☒ N/A, as the Office of the Contracting Party of the holder, the Office has not received requests for the recording of a limitation as a change.

C. ROLE OF THE OFFICE OF THE DESIGNATED CONTRACTING PARTY

Limitations in International Registrations, Subsequent Designations or Recorded as a Change

The International Bureau notifies Offices of the designated Contracting Parties of the international registration. The international registration may contain one or more limitations made either in the international application or in a subsequent designation.

The International Bureau also notifies the Office of a designated Contracting Party or Parties where a limitation is to have effect as a change to the international registration.

1. Limitations Made in an International Application

Question 4: As the Office of a Contracting Party designated in an international registration, does the Office examine a limitation made in the international application (under Rule 9(4)(a)(xiii)) to determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of that registration? (It is possible to tick more than one box; however, in such case, kindly explain in the comments section below.)

- ☐ Yes, the Office examines the limitation to determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limited list because the Office considers that only this list (and not the main list) has effects in the Contracting Party.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the holder is responsible for ensuring that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the Office of origin has already determined that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☒ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the International Bureau has already determined that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office does not have the legal basis to examine such limitation.
- ☐ N/A, as the Office of a designated Contracting Party, the Office has not been notified of an international registration containing a limitation made in an international application.

2. Limitations Made in a Subsequent Designation

Question 5: As the Office of a Contracting Party designated in an international registration, does the Office examine a limitation made in a subsequent designation (under Rule 24(3)(a)(iv)) to determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of that registration? (It is possible to tick more than one box; however, in such case, kindly explain in the comments section below.)

- ☐ Yes, the Office examines the limitation to determine whether such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limited list because the Office considers that only this list (and not the main list) has effects in the Contracting Party.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the holder is responsible for ensuring that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the Office that presented the subsequent designation or the International Bureau, when presented directly by the holder, has already determined that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☒ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the International Bureau, regardless of who presented the subsequent designation, has already determined that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office does not have the legal basis to examine such limitation.
- ☐ N/A, as the Office of a designated Contracting Party, the Office has not been notified of an international registration containing a limitation made in a subsequent designation.
- ☒ Other(s) – please, specify:
 Yes - The UK IPO will examine a limitation if this limitation is a subsequent communication from the International Bureau. This communication is a limitation after the original subsequent designation.

If the answer to either Question 4 or 5 is “Yes”, please reply to Question 6 below:

Question 6: What does the Office do when it determines that a limitation made in an international application (under Rule 9(4)(a)(xiii)) or subsequent designation (under Rule 24(3)(a)(iv)) is not covered by the main list of the international registration?

☒ The Office issues a notification of provisional refusal under Rule 17 of the Common Regulations stating that the limitation has no effect because it is not covered by the main list of the international registration.

☐ Other(s) – please, specify:

If the answer to either Question 4 or 5 is “No”, please reply to Question 7 below:

Question 7: If the Common Regulations provided for the possibility of refusing the effects of a limitation made in an international application (under Rule 9(4)(a)(xiii)) or subsequent designation (under Rule 24(3)(a)(iv)), either as a provisional refusal or as a declaration similar to that in Rule 27(5), would the Office apply the new provision and issue such notification or declaration?

☒ Yes, the Office would apply the new provision and issue such provisional refusal or declaration that the limitation has no effect.

☐ Yes, however, the national or regional legal framework would need to be changed.

☐ No, because the Office does not consider it should examine such limitations.

☐ Other(s) – please, specify:

3. Limitations Recorded as a Change

Question 8: As the Office of a designated Contracting Party, does the Office examine a limitation recorded as a change (under Rule 27(1)(a))? (It is possible to tick more than one box; however, in such case, kindly explain in the comments section below.)

- ☐ Yes, the Office undertakes such examination.
- ☐ No, the Office only takes into account the limitation because the Office understands that the holder is responsible for ensuring that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office simply takes note of the limitation because the Office understands that the Office that presented the request or the International Bureau, when the request is presented by the holder, has already determined that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office simply takes note of the limitation because the Office understands that the International Bureau, regardless of who presented the request, has already determined that such limitation is covered by the main list of the international registration.
- ☐ No, the Office simply takes note of the limitation because the Office does not have the legal basis to examine such limitation or refuse the effects of such limitation.
- ☐ N/A, as the Office of a designated Contracting Party, the Office has not been notified of a limitation recorded as a change to an international registration.
- ☒ Other(s) – please, specify:
 Yes - The UK IPO will examine limitations if the limitation request refers to specification
 No - The UK IPO will not examine requests if the "change" refers to a change of ownership
